FALL IN LOVE WITH THIS SEASON'S ACCESSORIES

By Debra B. Davenport, PhD

Okay, so you splurged on that uber-expensive Chanel suit — the one you saw sashay down the Fall 2007 runway and simply had to have. Who can blame you? Sometimes a girl has to do what a girl has to do: Indulge in luxury.

ell, now that you have a wardrobe to die for, how do you personalize it and make it your own? With accessories, of course! Fall's fabulous array of accessory choices is sure to have something (or many things) for everyone. From bracelets and headbands to boots and tights, rest assured every woman can heartily indulge this season.

JEWEL TONES. Always a favorite, this season's jewelry options offer an eclectic mix of feminine, luxe and old school. The return of the prep-school cardigan, plaid prints, and double-breasted jackets create a natural playground for whimsical — and sometimes very oversized — pins, brooches, patches and crests that turn everyday preppy into downright regal.

GOLD — THE YELLOW KIND — IS BACK, IN A BIG WAY. Bangles, cuffs, enormous cocktail rings, uncluttered earrings, and bold necklaces look decidedly elegant this season and most certainly add a welcoming warmth to the chilly fashion palettes of burgundy, charcoal, and electric blue.

Check out the gorgeously-bright colored bracelets with gold touches by Hermès (www.hermes.com), Etro's bold gold-and-gemstone version, and other versions of the iconic bracelet by Mark Davis, Stephen Dweck, José and Maria Barrera, Vita and Slane & Slane (available at Neiman Marcus).

For die-hard white gold and platinum girls, Claudia Endler Designs offers some of the most striking contemporary pieces available today. www.claudiaendlerdesigns.com

And let's not forget a girls' best friend: Diamonds. Lots of them! Le Vian's new chocolate diamond collection is more indulgent — and more delicious — than your favorite box of Godiva and, best of all, they go with absolutely everything in your fall/winter wardrobe. See the collection at www.levian.com.
